children surrender slingshots to forest team

Children from villages in the Peth taluka take a pledge to not use slingshots

He claimed that in many villages, the children themselves have now started a movement to see to it that no one in their neighbourhoods uses slingshots to kill birds.

Nashik forest officials said that killing of birds using slingshots is a serious issue and there is a decline of various species of bird population in Nashik forest owing to habitat loss and hunting. There are about 250 various species of birds found in Nashik, which houses one Ramsar site and three important bird areas.

"Our pilot project at Peth was a success. We are now going to replicate this project in three other forest ranges of Nashik West, including Nanashi, Barhe and Harsul. The initiative will make the gullible villagers, particularly children, understand the importance of the existence of birds. It will see a rise in bird population in Nashik in the future," Reddy hoped

vehicles burnt in residential area

vehicles

Something was burning and when he came down to check he saw that three vehicles were set ablaze. The vehicles, two-wheelers, owned by Sunil Gangurde and Shantilal Sambre were completely charred while the car owned by Rajendra Khode near the two vehicles was partially burnt," a police officer said.

"The owners of the vehicles are unable to find a reason why their vehicles could be targeted. Further investigation is on to find out the people behind the same," he added.
